

The Center for Prevention at Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Minnesota (Blue Cross) delivers on Blue Cross' long-term commitment to make healthy choices possible for all Minnesotans. By tackling the leading causes of preventable disease—commercial tobacco use, physical inactivity and unhealthy eating—we advance health equity to transform communities and create a healthier state.

Funded through proceeds from Blue Cross' historic lawsuit against the tobacco industry, we aim to make a healthy difference in people's lives: Creating health equity by supporting Minnesota communities to achieve their full health potential.

To achieve this, the Center invests in community funding programs, public awareness campaigns, evaluations, and actively advocates for policies, systems and environmental changes to advance community health and health equity across the state.

INVITATION TO PROVIDE INFORMATION

Blue Cross is excited to ask for proposals for our three-year Health POWER (People Organizing and Working for Equitable Results) Funding Initiative. We are seeking to support projects that enhance the capacity of local communities to create policy, systems, and environmental (PSE) change that will lead to long-term, sustained health improvement. In the first year, we will fund projects with budgets that range from $75,000 to $150,000. Projects that continue into years two and three will see budgets in a range of $60,000 - $110,000 and $50,000 - $85,000, respectively.

PROJECT OVERVIEW

Blue Cross will fund projects that support community-driven changes to policy (rules or laws), systems (process of how things are done) or environments (what one's setting looks and feels like) that will lead to healthier, more equitable communities for all. (These types of changes are also referred to as "PSE" change in this document.) PSE change includes:

- Policies adopted by organizations that apply to their property or operations, sometimes called organizational rules. A policy may also be a public policy adopted by units of government (cities, counties or tribal nations) that impact the entire community and take the form of an ordinance, law, resolution, regulation, etc. Policy change often has a significant and lasting influence on systems and environments.
- System change interventions may impact many elements of the operations and environments within an organization or institution. Systems change involves changing the established rules within organizations and institutions to promote positive health outcomes where we live, work and play.
- Environmental changes take place within the lived-environment and can occur independently of a system or policy change, through other actions that change an economic, social or physical situation.

Blue Cross wants to support a variety of projects across Minnesota that reflect diverse strategies to engage community members in improving community health and addressing health inequities. Organizations should propose ideas that address PSE change related to physical activity, healthy eating, or reducing commercial tobacco* use. (Tobacco in this document refers specifically to the use of manufactured, commercial tobacco products, and not to the sacred, medicinal and traditional use of tobacco by American Indians and other groups.*) Based on community need, ideas that address more than one of these areas are also welcome.

We believe that communities most impacted by health disparities are the best equipped to lead work that will help overcome the systemic barriers they face. The Health POWER Funding Initiative is designed to strengthen leadership development, invest in community-led solutions, and create collaborations to advance local PSE change. Funding is available for projects that align with the Center for Prevention's strategic goal to build community capacity and our approach to invest, connect, advocate, and promote.

Approach:

- INVEST: Develop sustainable models for advancing community leadership and systems partnerships. (Building community investment)
- CONNECT: Strengthen leadership networks and connections.
- ADVOCATE: Cultivate leaders and coalitions to advance PSE change.
- PROMOTE: Promote (community leadership, causes and initiatives) to increase community/statewide engagement and investment.

For more information on our approach visit: www.centerforpreventionmn.com

During this three-year initiative, Blue Cross will bring staff together from the funded projects to network, share successes and challenges, and identify opportunities to collaborate with peers in their community work. In this cohort model, organizations participating in this initiative will assign their Lead Project Coordinator and one other staff person or organization leader involved in the project to participate in these gatherings. The time commitment will be approximately 25-30 hours/person/year. Participants in this cohort will have responsibility to each other as they align their projects and community work with shared goals determined by the group. We want to partner with organizations, communities and stakeholders to advance a shared vision for healthy communities in Minnesota.

Successful project proposals will:

- Support community driven solutions to reduce health inequities.
- Include a goal related to policy, systems, or environmental (PSE) change.
- Address at least one of the Center for Prevention's issue areas of Physical Activity, Healthy Eating, Commercial Tobacco Use, including health equity. Projects may address more than one of these issue areas and take a holistic approach to health.
- Demonstrate that the project design is informed by community members knowledge and experience.
- Demonstrate that the project is implemented in partnership with the community or includes constituent engagement.
- Support community leadership development.
- Use community engagement to advance health equity.
- Commit a staff member to regularly collaborate with other funded participants on achieving health equity goals.

We know projects will be developed for specific communities. For background, here are some project examples:

- Support change at a community level to make it possible for people to have what they need in their communities to be active and well.
- Engage community members to create and pass culturally specific food policies to eliminate barriers to healthy eating.
- Develop and deliver culturally specific messages that fulfill unmet education needs, around a variety of tobacco issues and for a variety of audiences, messages that distinguish commercial tobacco from sacred tobacco.
- Support communities that would like to address two or more health concerns within a given setting, such as physical inactivity, commercial tobacco use or lack of access to healthy and culturally appropriate foods.

- Engage community members in developing strategies to address the intergenerational transmission of Adverse Childhood Experiences and related health impacts, such as commercial tobacco use and obesity.
- Support environmental changes that reflect the values of the people who live there, and increase opportunities for community members to be physically active.
- Support youth engagement and leadership development on issues related to community health and PSE change.
- Develop targeted educational and communication campaigns that reach a specific audience.
- Support new and emerging leaders (especially people of color and Indigenous people) in food system PSE work.

We are interested in supporting work that shares our strategic goals, but also work that will be sustainable beyond our funding. You can view our strategic plan in the attachments to check for goal alignment.

Blue Cross will give preference to applications that are designed to increase opportunities for community members who typically face barriers to healthy community initiatives or participation.

Blue Cross wants to select projects that reflect representation from the seven-county metropolitan area, Tribal communities and greater Minnesota.
